Santa Ana Near Goal in War Savings Stamp Drive

$53,415 TO PUT CITY OVER THE TOP OF ITS QUOTA

Banks and Post Office Are Swamped With Business Developing From Drive

PRESIDENT MUST KNOW BY TOMORROW NIGHT

Special Committees to Work Tomorrow In Urging Increase In Pledges

Santa Ana is going to go over the top in the war stamp drive. It is going to take a little additional work and an increase in the pledge many people have made to do it. At noon today the city was within $53,415 of its quota, and this without results of the drive in the business district in progress today. As near as could be figured at the noon hour today the pledges and purchases to date totaled $246,585. This includes sales at the postoffice amounting to $101,000, pledges made at the schools and pledges and purchases made on the drive in the residence districts.

The business district will not produce the shortage. The committees will have to keep working until they have overcome the shortage. There are a number of people who have been missed and others who can increase their pledges without embarrassment. Chairman Andrews urges that everyone who can increase or who has not pledged come to the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow and do so. This will save time for everybody concerned.

The spirit of the people as a whole on the drive has been splendid and the solicitors have been given every consideration in most every place they have called. It must be said, however, that some of the workers met with rebuffs, and from people who consider themselves good Americans. The number is very limited.

Precinct 24, R. G. Tutill and C. F. Smith, captains, today takes the lead in the largest returns. The total of the precinct is $4870. Precinct 29 is second, and when C. E. Hilton and E. P. Verner complete their work this afternoon the precinct will be classed as 100 per cent perfect. Every house in the precinct, according to their statement, is pledged, or will be when they secure two or three more this afternoon from parties who were not at home but who left word that they would sign pledges.

They haven't been turned down in a single instance, except where the pledge was to be made at the business address of the head of the house, and they have made sure that the business man has made a pledge. The total of this precinct is $4590, or $280 less than No. 24.

The postoffice and the banks have been swamped with business resulting from the drive. The business in the banks has exceeded the clerical capacity of the institutions and this afternoon a conference between the bankers and a War Stamp committee is being held to decide upon some action to relieve the situation. Hundreds of pledges named the banks with which they carry accounts the place where they would meet their pledges.

County Chairman John McFadden is receiving splendid reports from all parts of the county. In many of the communities the reports have been general and no specific amounts have been named as pledged and purchased.

"I am delighted with the results shown in Santa Ana," said City Chairman Andrews this afternoon. "I am not disappointed that the drive has not resulted in pledging the full quota on the first time over the field. I believe, however, that the city can be put over the top, and hope to see it go over before tomorrow night."

"Santa Ana is not going to disappoint President Wilson," declared Horace Fine, drive chairman, this afternoon. "I will put out special committees tomorrow to increase pledges wherever possible and to take pledges from those who have been overlooked or who were out of town or away from home at the times the canvassers in their districts called. We are so near the goal that we cannot afford to let the city slip by into the slacker class, and our report has to be made to President Wilson tomorrow night."

"While the individual purchase is limited to $1000, men with money to invest in this A-1 security can make a $1000 pledge for each member of the family and we hope to develop men who will increase their $1000 subscription by pledging for members of their family."

BENSON WITHDRAWS FROM SOCIALIST PARTY

NEW YORK, June 27.—Alan T. Benson, Socialist candidate for president in 1916, has withdrawn from the Socialist party, he announced today.

He charges the party passed into control of foreign born leaders who are devoid of Americanism and are "an anarchistic minority." Benson said the leaders he referred to were not pro-German but were incapable, owing to their birth, of seeing the difference between a covetous, imperialistic nation like Germany and a nation like the United States.

HUN ADMITS HE CANNOT GAIN OBJECTIVES BY BATTLE

Reichstag Speech Spills the Beans; Want Peace By Negotiation

BY J. W. T. MASON
(United Press War Expert)
NEW YORK, June 27.—The German government has confessed in the reichstag that von Hindenburg cannot win the war for the central empires. This is by far the most significant declaration in Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann's speech. His statement that peace cannot be gained on the battlefield but must come by negotiation is destined to have far reaching consequences upon German morale. The German people were led to believe that the frightful slaughter of German manpower during the four western offensives this spring would end the war with a Teuton victory. Now that von Kuehlmann has made the naive admission that peace cannot be gained by such means there must eventually be a profound reaction in Germany.

The decline of Hindenburg's reputation among his own people may be dated by future historians from von Kuehlmann's revelation in the reichstag. It is difficult to see how Hindenburg will be justified in ordering another offensive. Further calls on the German people to sacrifice themselves anew to break the Allies' lines must hereafter be associated with von Kuehlmann's confession that peace cannot be won on the battlefield.

Without naming the United States, von Kuehlmann pointedly indicates that American troops are the obstacle to Germany's battlefield success. This he does by attributing the impossibility of a military decision to the number of powers engaged, "including the one from overseas." The inference is very plain. Von Kuehlmann has no wish to admit openly that Germany has ruined herself by forcing America into the war, yet he is compelled to make known to the leaders of German public opinion exactly how the situation stands. He has adopted the method of verbal suggestion.

Germany is not yet beaten; but the German government has gone further than ever before in admitting that the German army cannot win. Whatever Hindenburg may do and however the kaiser may think, von Kuehlmann's speech shows that Germany must cling to the defensive. The government's sole purpose now is to save what it can from the wreck of the war. That is why von Kuehlmann uses vague generalities about "historic boundaries" in describing Germany's peace terms.

CAMP KEARNY, San Diego, June 27.—Major General F. S. Strong, commanding Camp Kearny, has ruled that passes cannot be issued to soldiers for Fourth of July, excepting in cases where soldiers can return to camp from their homes on the same day. Suffrage Bill Laid Over Until Big Army Measure Is Passed

Warm Time In Senate Today In Wrangle Over Suffrage Resolution

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Suffrage forces late today abandoned their attempt to get a vote from the senate on the suffrage resolution at this time. In the face of a filibuster, Senator Jones of New Mexico withdrew the suffrage resolution with the explanation that when the army bill has passed the suffrage question will again be brought before the senate and kept there all summer if necessary.

Threats and counter threats were exchanged on all sides in the senate today in the wrangle on the question of voting on the suffrage resolution. Finally the resolution was automatically displaced by the twelve billion dollar army bill, the unfinished business of the senate. After that debate continued for some time until Senator Chamberlain, supporter of both measures, demanded the army bill be taken up and suffrage laid aside for the present.

RUSSIA COUNTS ON FULL AID OF AMERICA

Kerensky Is Positive Slavs Will Overthrow Bolsheviks and Fight Germany

STOCKHOLM, June 27.—Conferees are proceeding between representatives of the Siberian government and Japan and China for the latter's aid in overthrowing the Bolsheviks and making war on Germany, it was learned here today.

LONDON, June 27.—While waiting to speak to the labor conference, Alexander Kerensky sent the following message to America through the United Press:

"Russia counts on the full aid of America at this moment of supreme tragedy and importance for her. I cannot say now in what way America can best aid Russia. I am coming to explain the Russian situation for you." Kerensky declared that there are definite indications that order will be re-established in Russia with the aid of the allies and America resulting in the recreation of an east front again.

He said it is positive that Russia will join the allies as soon as the Bolshevik yoke is thrown off. "I bear witness the Russian people will never recognize the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty which aims at the annihilation of Russia. I consider the Bolsheviks German pawns. Russia has lost practically all the freedom she won through the revolution," said Kerensky before the conference today.

CORPORAL C. G. CHRISTENSON, whose name appeared last Saturday among those who had died of wounds received in action.

NO OFFICIAL WORD YET RECEIVED CONFIRMING DEATH OF CHRISTENSEN

In Leitchfuss Case, Wire Was Sent to Relatives at Orange

No official word has been sent to Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Christenson of Tustin confirming the report that their son, Corporal George G. Christenson, died of wounds received in battle in France.

The fact, however, that no official wire or letter has yet been sent to the parents does not give rise to any hope that the report is untrue. Christenson's name appeared in the press casualty lists sent out from Washington, D. C. When George Leitchfuss of Orange was reported wounded, a wire giving that information was received by his parents at Orange the day Leitchfuss' name appeared in the casualty list.

"I am expecting official notification by letter," said H. P. Christenson today. "I have been told that it may take a week or ten days or possibly two weeks for the notification to reach us."

But two weeks ago Mrs. Christenson received the government insurance policy for $10,000 taken out by George last November. Corporal Christenson's name appeared in the casualty lists last Saturday. He was with the United States Marines.

DRAWING GIVES ORDER NUMBER TO EACH NEW REGISTRANT

Men of 21 Are Given Their Positions In the New Draft Line

NO DATE IS SET FOR FIRST CALL ON THEM

Lists Given Show How the Orange County Men Stand In Column

This morning at Washington, D. C., the drawing for positions in the draft list of 21-year-old men who registered on June 5, took place. By this drawing the order in which the men will be called in to service is determined, the calls being subject, of course, to the classifications by the draft boards. The drawing was completed at Washington in two hours, 1200 pellets being drawn from a bowl in the senate building.

While 1200 numbers were drawn, Orange County District No. 1 was concerned with only the numbers from 1 to 153, inclusive, and No. 2 is interested in the numbers only from 1 to 157. There were but 153 registrations in No. 1 district and 137 in No. 2 district.

After the registrations on June 5, the registration cards were shuffled, and the men were given the serial numbers as they came. Those numbers are the ones concerned in the drawing at Washington.

There is not much interest in the drawing, for the reason that it is reasonably certain that all of those who are placed in Class 1 and found to be qualified for full military service will be called in the next few months.

Under the old registration, No. 1 district still has seventy-six Class 1 men qualified for full service. Of these, eleven are to go to Ft. McDowell on July 15 and thirty-two are to go to Camp Lewis on July 22.

Probably not later than September 1 all of this district's qualified class 1 men will be taken, even should a number of Class 2 men be put into Class 1. It is not known when the first call for the new men, those of 21, will be made. It will take some time for the questionnaires to be handled and classifications made, and while most of the classifications can be quickly made, some of them may be hanging fire for weeks after the first call upon the 21-year-olds has been answered. The provost marshal can call on the new men before the old Class 1 list is exhausted. He may not do so, however.

Those whose names appear first in the accompanying lists will be the first called, if they are found to be Class 1 men. Those toward the foot of each list may not be called for several weeks or months after the call for those at the head of the list.

The 21-year-old men now appear on the order lists as follows, the number here given being the numbers in the order in which they were drawn today in Washington:

TURCK DECLINES TO TAKE FIVE DAYS CUT OFF TIME IN JAIL

Commutation of Sentence By Governor Meets With Cold Shoulder

Today commutation by Gov. W. D. Stephens of the sentence of W. I. Turck of Los Angeles from ten days in jail to five days in jail and a fine of $50 was received by Sheriff Jackson. Turck refused to pay the fine. He will stay in jail for the full ten days.

The action of the governor arrived today after Turck had served seven days of his sentence of ten days, given to him by Justice Cox for speeding fifty-eight miles an hour.

"I made my arrangements to stay ten days now," said Turck. "When I arrived here Saturday I expected commutation that would let me out last Monday. I had no such promise direct from the governor, but I had reason to expect that I would be out on Monday. I am here yet. Getting no word from the governor since Monday I have arranged to stay my ten days. I don't care now to be under any obligation to Governor Stephens."

Governor Stephens' commutation sets forth his reasons for his action. The order reads as follows:

"Executive Department
"State of California.
"Commutation of Sentence.

"W. I. Turck was sentenced on Jan. 28, 1918, to serve a term of ten days in the county jail of Orange County for violating the terms of Section 22 of the Motor Vehicle Act for driving an automobile at a rate of speed in excess of thirty miles an hour.

"Mr. Turck is engaged in the production of canned fish and is furnishing such foodstuffs to the allied governments.

"The proper execution of his contracts requires his personal supervision.

"I recognize the necessity for the enforcement of the laws regulating speed on highways. I grant the need for severity in many instances to stop disregard of the law. Deterring effect will, however, be accomplished just as successfully in this case with five days imprisonment and a fine of $50, as ten days of incarceration.

"I am actuated in commuting this sentence by the fact that the fish canneries Mr. Turck is operating urgently need his personal attention. He has important responsibilities in fulfilling contracts for war supplies.

"Now, therefore, I, William D. Stephens, governor of California, do hereby commute the sentence of ten days imposed upon W. I. Turck to a term of five days in the county jail of Orange county and the payment of a fine of $50, with the condition that if said fine of $50 is not paid then said Turck shall serve the full term of his original sentence.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of California to be affixed this 25th day of June, 1918.

"W. D. STEPHENS, Governor.
"Attest: FRANK C. JORDAN, Secretary of State."

125 HUSKY MEN ARE GIVEN TO CO. L TO FILL UP ITS RANKS

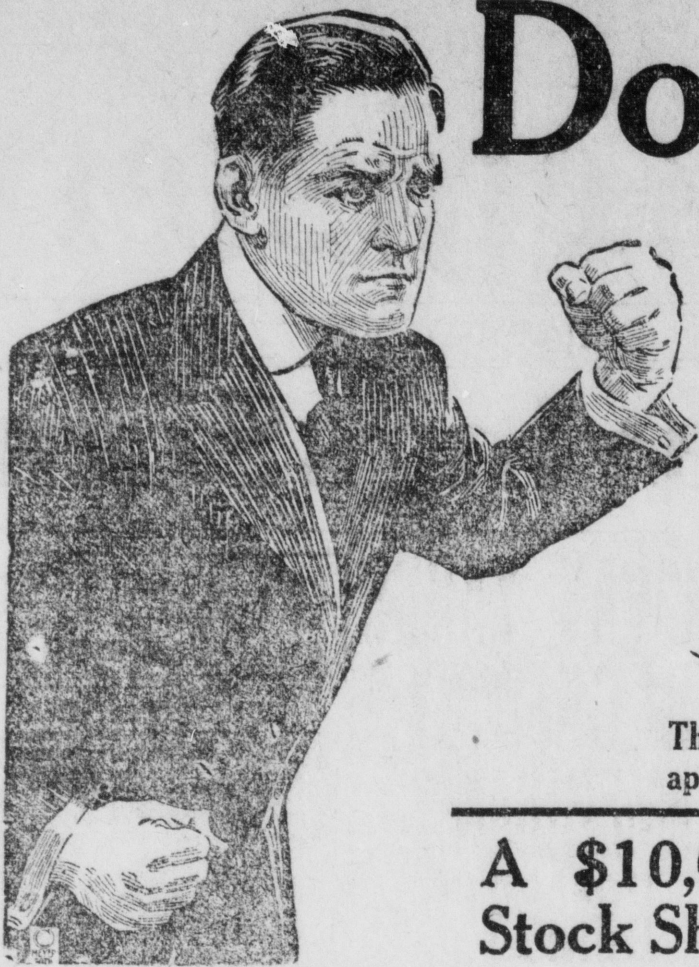

Remainder to Complete Company Will Come From California Draft

In the filling up of organizations at Camp Kearny with drafted men, Company L, 160th Infantry, has been so far fortunate. It has just received an assignment of 125 husky men from the Middle West, sent to Camp Kearny in the draft.

Two weeks ago many of the men of the old Company L that was recruited in Santa Ana and this vicinity were sent East, and they may now be on the Atlantic on their way to France. There was left at Camp Kearny a nucleus for a new company. Those remaining included Captain N. M. Holderman, Lieutenants A. K. Ford and C. D. Swanner and about twenty-five non-commissioned officers, most of them from Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin. These men were left to become the backbone of a new company, to be filled up with drafted men.

"We received 125 recruits Saturday," writes one of the Santa Anans in Company L. "They are fine, big men from the Middle West. We will have our company filled up just as soon as the Californians arrive and serve their quarantine period."

It is just possible, but not probable, that some of the fifty-eight Orange county drafted men who went to Camp Kearny last Monday may find their way into Company L.

GIRLS BACK HOME FORM POWERFUL BOND AMONG FIGHTERS

Ranks Vanish As Men 'Over There' Consider Loved Ones In the States

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCES AT THE FRONT, May 27.—(By Mail.)—The girls left back home form a powerful bond of sympathy among the fighters over here. A pretty illustration came out in a visit yesterday with a medical officer of a regiment on repose. The medical officer is a captain, his assistant a second lieutenant, and they have a private for orderly. The three were living in a single room of an old and dull-looking French house, inhabited by a French family, despite the proximity of the front lines. On the walls were French lithographs, mostly religious. One showed friends and relatives gathered around the cradle of a new-born child of Lorraine. Underneath was the inscription, "He shall be French." A goodly number of old-style portraits were hanging over the bright colored wall paper. On the mantelpiece was a complicated clock in a glass case, the luxury of the family, probably.

Sweethearts Are Equal
With the clock on the mantelpiece were the folding photographic portraits of three lovable and wholesome looking American girls. Regardless of the ranks of their lovers, these three girls are entitled to equal positions on any mantelpiece their men find in France.

Since correspondents were visitors, these three men had maintained military formality in their conversation before us. Someone called attention to the three girls' pictures. Formality vanished. "We couldn't get along without them," said the second lieutenant.

"I never got acquainted with 'Bob and Joe' until I found they were in love with girls back there," said the captain. "We became chums instead of fellow workers. It's a mighty strong bond, those girls on the mantelpiece."

Private Speaks Up
"These fellows think they're got it on me because they're married and I'm only engaged," added the private, "but they've got no better girl than I. There's going to be a big time when I get to the old town. The cap's going to come up-state and be lost man, and the lieutenant's slated for next best, and their wives there are going to be bridesmaids. Believe me, it's going to be some wedding. O boy!"

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS NOTES FROM ORANGE CITY

ORANGE, June 27.—Nine years of faithful service was rewarded with a public ovation Tuesday evening when the most of the community of El Modena turned out to a dinner and party in honor of Rev. H. M. Moore and family, who are soon to leave El Modena.

Rev. Moore is retiring from the pastorate of Friends church, next Sunday being his last in that pulpit. The esteem for him and his family which the community feels was expressed in the affair at the El Modena school, where 150 people were placed at tables.

A collection amounting to $30 was contributed and presented by the ladies to Mrs. Moore as a parting token of esteem with the statement that "El Modena had been getting the services of both Mr. and Mrs. Moore and only paying for one."

Rev. Hayworth, who will succeed Rev. Moore in the El Modena church, is expected from Iowa in several weeks.

A wienie bake was given at Balboa Beach for Herbert Krueger, Harold Yost, William Handley and Henry Schluter, who have enlisted in the naval reserve. Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Hobbs chaperoned the young folks. There were 30 couples present.

Orange W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. A. McGill at her home on North Tustin street. The meeting was devoted to war work, the making of comfort bags, knitting of socks, etc. The president, Mrs. Ora B. Benson, reported that seven navy comfort bags and eleven army bags had been given to sailors and soldiers since the May meeting. Nine of the army bags were given out to the men who entrained at Orange Monday. The Santa Ana Union also furnished bags, so that each of the thirty-four men, except a few previously supplied, received one of the convenient and useful comfort bags.

August Dusin and son, Alfred, left this morning for Phillipsburg, Kan., where Mr. Dusin will spend several months. His son expects to locate there.

Mrs. T. A. Wright and daughter, Alice, of Chesley, Ontario, Canada, and daughter, Mrs. O. K. Walker, of Aspinwall, Pa., are spending the summer in Orange. Mrs. Walker's husband is in France.

TRAVELS 60,000 MILES ON U. S. DESTROYER HUNTING U-BOATS

WESTMINSTER, June 27.—Clement Storey, a nephew of Mrs. S. Dickey, whose home is in Pasadena and who is now ensign on the destroyer Patterson, has traveled over 60,000 miles since enlisting last fall. He has arrived in this country for a month's furlough, two weeks of which will be spent at home. The vessel which he was on and which has been in European waters, is at an Atlantic port undergoing boiler repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards and sons, Ben and Rufus, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edwards, taking their lunch with them, went Saturday for an outing at Huntington Beach and visited at the home of George Cox. On their return they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Newby and little granddaughter, Doris Stephens, of Riverside, who were also visiting at the Cox home. They remained till Sunday afternoon, when they returned to their home, stopping on the way for supper with relatives at Pomona.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCoy and children, Mrs. Lena Glass and two children, spent the weekend at Long Beach with A. Burlingame. Mr. and Mrs. Purcell of Bell were also guests on Sunday. Mrs. Glass and children returned by stage to this place and returned to their home in Corona with S. Dickey and Howard Glass, who came down for them by machine. Mrs. Glass spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Dickey, and on her return home her little daughter, Evelyn, remained for a further visit with her cousin, Helen McCoy.

Mrs. Kruger and her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Johnson, of Los Angeles spent from Saturday till Monday with Mr. Kruger at the ranch.

The household goods of J. McBride were moved Monday to a house in Garden Grove, where he expects to live on his return from the hospital.

Mrs. Lena Patterson spent the weekend with the family of J. O. Harper at Talbert.

Mrs. George Abbott and little granddaughter, Helen Richards, of Huntington Park came down for the weekend.

Miss Bertha Haas, who was elected as intermediate teacher for the coming year, has accepted another position, and Miss Myrtle Culver of Wintersburg has been elected in her place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Stoves and daughter, Miss Opal Stoves, left Saturday by auto for Washington state. They were prepared for camping and expected to make the trip in about ten days, reaching their destination by the Fourth of July. Their first stop was at Burbank for a short time at the home of a nephew, expecting to reach Bakersfield the first night. The second stop they planned to make at Turlock with former residents, H. E. Arneson and family. They expected to visit a nephew of Mrs. Stoves at Camp Fremont. After visiting relatives in Washington and Idaho, they will return home the last of September.

Telephone Stops Runaway
Prompt use of the telephone by Miss Leora Blakey and quick action on the part of L. E. Rich put a stop to a runaway late Wednesday afternoon. Miss Blakey saw a horse which was hitched to a wagon, running past her home. She immediately telephoned to L. E. Rich that it would pass his place, and he rushed out and caught the runaway before any damage was done. The outfit belonged to the Japanese who farms the Anderson and McBride places.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbank and son, Charles, accompanied by Mrs. L. E. Rich, enjoyed an outing Wednesday by taking an auto ride to Los Angeles, Santa Monica, Venice and other places.

The Happy Workers' society met with Mrs. H. Larter at Wintersburg all day Wednesday. Over thirty were present. A committee was appointed to secure work from the Red Cross for next meeting.

LAMB AUCTIONS OFF GOOD PROPERTY AT ANNUAL TAX SALES

County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb has sold at auction a number of pieces of property the taxes upon which went delinquent in 1912. Redemptions have never been made. At the auction sale held at the court house some pieces of property sold at low figures. The purchaser gets a deed from the state, and any person desiring to redeem the property must settle with the new owner.

One piece of property at East Newport was sold to W. A. Cornelius on a bid of $39. This lot stands in the name of Emma J. Fellows, who is believed to have disappeared several years ago. The taxes have been paid upon it the last two years, but the one who has been paying the taxes never redeemed the property from the delinquency of 1912. Cornelius gets a tax deed to the lot, which is worth between $1500 and $2000. Lew H. Wallace got some good property also.

The purchaser with a tax deed can enter into possession. The original owner will have to go to court to regain title. If the purchaser at a tax sale is dispossessed by the original owner he gets back his money.

Among properties sold at auction by Lamb were:

Lot 105, block A, East Newport, to W. A. Cornelius, $39.

Lot 3, block 4, and lot 20, block 24, Newport Bay tract, to L. H. Wallace for $50 and $40. A house is on one lot.

Lot 19, block 1002 for $2.85; lot 21, block 813, for $5; lot 10, block 619, for $4; lot 12, block 619, for $4; all in Vista Del Mar tract, Huntington Beach; all to J. H. Stewart.

Lot 5, block A, Fairview, to G. H. Clark, $97.

Lot 15, block B, Fairview, to Leo and Frank Borchard, for $99.

The castor-bean plant is cultivated by the Chinese farmer in a very small way in South Manchuria. The beans are generally grown as a border around fields planted to other crops; being poisonous to cattle, they help to keep live stock out of the fields and also serve as danger signals to cattle herders.

—W. S. S.—

Official figures for the coffee crop which was harvested in Guadelupe, French West Indies, during the winter of 1917-18, are not yet available, but according to well-informed dealers, the total production probably amounted to more than 2,000,000 pounds, and was therefore at least 27 per cent greater than the average yield of 1,575,000 pounds.

KEEPING THEM AT HOME

Irvin Cobb demands a "Foolproof War." He wishes the present war could be waged without the presence on the fighting side of the Atlantic of numerous people, who presumably have nothing to do but wear uniforms, or who are positive nuisances.

He speaks of the lady who "wanted to do her part, without having the least idea of what that part would be or how she would go about doing it. She knew nothing of nursing; kitchen work, a vulgar thing, was abhorrent to her nature and to her manicured nails; she could not cook, neither could she sew or sweep—but she must do her part." He goes on, with justice, to say:

"When I left America last winter a great glow of national sanity had already begun to rise above the remaining scourgings of national hysteria; and the lady whose portrait I have tried to sketch was not quite so numerous or so vociferous as she had been. My surprise was all the greater, therefore, to find that she had beaten me across the water. She had pretty well disappeared at home."

Besides these women, there are plenty of men going about on foolish or useless commissions, taking the time of busy officials who have more important things to do.

Mr. Cobb gives full praise to those civilians who, with competent preparation, have given splendid assistance in the big work. Many organizations and individuals have proved themselves indispensable. Also, "weeding-out" is one of the best things this army of ours does." But what he wants to see is the weeding-out process conducted on the American side. He wants a proper discrimination exercised at home to reduce the number of Americans in Europe for whose presence there appears no valid excuse.

In the early days workers were so badly needed that volunteers were accepted without much question. The evil effects were soon manifest, and greater efforts are constantly being made to perform that proper discrimination on this side of the water.

It is well for every person anxious to get into the war zone to ask whether there is not important work right at hand. The wise man's motto, "Do the Next Thing," is especially good just now. And the government should deal firmly with the patriots who want to go abroad without reason. Let them do their eating and talking over here, and save transportation of their food and their persons.

KEEP ON THE JOB

The internal troubles in Austria, combined with the notable failure of the Austrian arms in their supreme effort, inevitably remind us of Russia. At this time it seems not impossible that there may be a political and military collapse in the dual monarchy comparable to that of the Russian empire.

Such a development would be a greater piece of good fortune for the Allies than the Russian debacle was for the Central empires.

It would not, however, end the war. We must not be over-sure of an early Austrian collapse, and must not base too high hopes on it when it does come. German trickery may be camouflaging the internal situation in Austria. If the development comes, it will mean, perhaps, half the victory. The other half will be still to win, and will require time, patience and huge effort.

Germany will remain. Her defeat will be absolutely certain, once her ally is put out of the game. Allied resources and morale will be too overwhelming. But still the Germans may be expected to fight like heroes when they are pressed back upon their own soil and the old cry that they are fighting for their life and homes is given literal application.

It would be a grievous mistake for any of the allied governments to abate one jot of their preparations for the great, final phase of the struggle. It would be a mistake for the people of any allied country to indulge false hopes of easy and early victory. The thing to do is to set to the task more grimly than ever, in the sure knowledge that the harder the blows we are able to strike, the quicker will come the peace we desire.

We had better muster enough power to smash three Germanys than prolong the life of Prussianism through over-confidence.

MILITARY TRAINING

The American Medical Association, in its convention at Chicago, declared unanimously for universal military training.

The declaration was based entirely on health considerations. Pointing out that the selective service examinations have revealed a large percentage of our young men as physically unfit, though most of their disabilities are curable, and reminding the public of the physical and mental benefits gained by our drafted men at the army cantonments, the association asks that every American lad be subjected to these benefits. From a medical point of view, there can be no question about the desirability of such training. Most Americans at this time would probably indorse the plan. It remains to be seen, however, whether intensive military drill need be an essential part of such a scheme.

It is possible that the war will end in such a death-blow to militarism that another war need not be feared. In that case, it might be hard to persuade the nation to keep on training soldiers. The arguments of the medical men would still be valid, and there would be other good reasons for bringing the nation's youth together for discipline and development.

Our Boys Making Friends In France

By Francis Rogers of The Vigilantes

Our soldiers were welcome in France last July when they first landed, bringing with them the tangible evidence of America's military participation in the war, and they certainly have not yet worn out their welcome. In the towns and villages where they spent the winter they made a good impression. Some of them misbehaved, to be sure, but most of them succeeded in winning the good will and respect, often the affection of the natives, to whom they brought not only a certain amount of commercial prosperity after three years of ever-increasing poverty, but also the moral support of their good will and friendliness.

Last March an American soldier, walking through the streets of Toul, noticed an old woman and a little boy struggling to push a loaded wheelbarrow. She was too old and he too young for the task. The soldier stepped up and trundled the barrow to its destination. The old woman thanked him fervently.

"But that is what we Americans are here for; we are come to help France bear her burden."

"Thank God, monsieur, that you are here, for I know not what we should do without you."

At Easter I was passing through a village where the Rainbow Division had until recently been quartered. Several of the natives enquired eagerly for news of "les Americains" and asked us when they were coming back. One middle-aged farmer said, "I miss those boys as if they were my own. Several of them used to come to my house and help me with the wood and water and play with the children. Evenings they would come and sit with me and my wife around the lamp. We could not say much to each other because they speak no French and I speak no English, but we managed to get along. Since they went away they have sent me some postcards. They don't write anything on them, but I get their meaning. Please say you think they are coming back to us soon."

Our soldiers get along famously with the French poilus, too. One sees them walking arm in arm or sitting about the tables in the cafes or in the Y. M. C. A. conversing in a kind of jargon that is neither French nor English but that serves their conversational purpose. A Montana boy showed me a Croix de Guerre given him as a souvenir by the French soldier that had won it. Such happy, easy comradeship is good for our joint aims and speaks well for the future relations between the two great republics.

Booze Routed

From the San Bernardino Sun

Stockton votes out the saloon, wonderful to say. If there is any place in California where booze seemed to have been more strongly entrenched than in San Francisco, it was in Stockton. Yet an ordinance there modeled on the Rominger bill, closing saloons but allowing wine and beer to be sold with meals and at wholesale for home use, carried by a margin.

Which recalls recent evidence of changed conditions here in San Bernardino. The annual report of the police department, covering the year ending April 30, shows a reduction in arrests of over 75 per cent! Nor is that all. Of the years compared, the last one included two months when the town was wet, May and June, 1917, and 10 months of the dry regime, and approximately one-half the arrests in the year were made during the two wet months!

The figures are not less than dizzying. In the last year, two months wet and 10 months dry, the number of arrests was 1130, of which one-half were made during the first two wet months. In the former year, all wet, the number of arrests was 4630.

The explanation offered both by Chief of Police Burcham and former Chief of Police Shay is that the absence of saloons makes the difference. And some difference!

Bud Flivver's Observations

 She got on the train—When we stopped at Visalia—And she sat down—A few seats ahead of me—

 And she had—A little boy—About two years old—And he was—A cute little codger—

 And he stood up—In the seat—And looked back—And smiled at me—And made funny faces—

 And the mother—Started to read—A magazine—And didn't pay—Any attention to him—

 And it was hot—And the window was open—And he leaned out—And kicked up his heels—And had a good time—

 And his mother—Caught his dress—With one hand—And went on reading—Her magazine—

 And he leaned out again—And I shut my eyes—And I could see—A lot of flowers—And a little corpse—About his size—

 And he kept on—Dangling out of the window—And the mother—Kept on reading—And I nearly—Had heart failure—

 And when I couldn't—Stand it any longer—I went to her—And I asked her—Was she trying—To commit infanticide—

 And she raised her eyes—And gave me—An ugly look—And she said—"What do you mean, infanticide?"

 And I told her I meant—Was she trying—To kill her child—Or something—And I said—It made me nervous—

 And she grinned—And she said—"You had better—See a doctor—For your nerves"—And she went on reading—

 And the kid—Kept right on—Hanging out of the window—And some times—She would lose her hold—On his dress—

 And the conductor came in—And I asked him—Wouldn't he—Make the kid sit down—

 And it isn't—Against the law to—Fall out of a window—But the conductor—Told her it was—

 And she jerked the kid back—And told him—To stop leaning—Out that way—Or he'd get hurt—

 And I gave the conductor—A nice cigar—And I thanked him—And everything—By Bud.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

OLD SLOUCH POSTURE IS OUT OF STYLE; NOT PATRIOTIC

Government Hires Expert to Teach Efficiency Rules to Employees

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Listen, girls! It isn't stylish any more to stand on the heel of one foot and the inside of the other foot, with one shoulder jauntily cocked on one side.

That was very pretty back in the days of peace and wastefulness, but our war has changed the style in the interest of efficiency.

In the old days you could afford to have a headache at 3 p. m., and feel all worn out and lazy at 4 p. m. But it isn't patriotic now.

Hence, you must stand up straight, both feet squarely on the ground, weight resting on the balls of the feet, head up, chest out, waist in, after the new fashion of efficiency.

Expert in Charge

Miss Marguerite Sanderson, employed by the government to increase the efficiency of the thousands of government employes in Washington, is spreading the new style here. Posture has much to do with efficiency, she says. Ill fitting shoes, and shoes of insidious shapes are next in order as allies of the Kaiser in decreasing American efficiency.

Men as well as women are guilty of faulty posture and bad shoes, says Miss Sanderson. But men never consciously cultivated the habit of trying to touch the left inside ankle to the sidewalk while standing talking to a gentleman friend. One should stand as though trying to touch the ground with all ten toes at the same time, Miss Sanderson says. If you hang your head your stomach sags at the wrong end, and overworks it, thereby helping to give you a headache and tired feeling.

Note These Points

Miss Sanderson assures us of greater war-winning power if we will observe these injunctions:

In walking up stairs, don't boost yourself along by the banisters. Raise yourself by the ankles. In going down, don't thump and jar your whole body. Don't drag yourself aboard a street car. And don't hang to the car straps any more than necessary to maintain your balance. Keep your weight on the balls of your feet.

In buying shoes, look at the inside of the soles to see if they are in a straight line. Badly fitting shoes cause improper standing postures and thus induce organic disarrangements.

Fighting Under Two Flags

The True Story of the American Legion

By J. W. PEGLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

EDITOR'S NOTE.—This is the second instalment of Pegler's story of the heroic American Legion of the Canadian army, with particular reference to two leading spirits of the legion. Lieut. Col. Richard H. Griffiths and Maj. Alexander Rassmussen. The third instalment will appear Friday.

The crowning disgrace awaited the soldiers of the American Canadian Legion in England. Soon after they arrived in a finishing-camp their colonel, formerly an American officer, was arrested on charges of embezzlement. Then the legion was pooled in a big military reservoir and thereby lost all chance ever to fight in the line as an American unit. Drafts went out to reinforce the Princess Patricia's, the 38th battalion and the R. C. R.'s.

Rassmussen and other brave men who have since been killed were willing to stake anything on the honor of the accused colonel. He was their friend—they believed in him, respected him and were sure that his fall was due to the political jealousy and jealousy of another American Canadian officer of high rank who had left the American army many years before.

A Dugout Officer

To this day that other officer never has been to the front except on an occasional "Cook's Tour" of inspection. Rassmussen was bitter when I told him innocently one day last winter that the other was still safe in his dugout in London but claiming he had been wounded.

"Wounded hell!" exploded Rass. "Do you know where he got that wound?" The old liar!

"I'll tell you. He was wounded in the Battle of London—showing off his toy pistol to another embezzler."

His Chaplin mustache bristled out like a brunette tooth-brush.

Rassmussen finally got out to France as a machinegun officer in the Canadians. The American legion was only a memory. Even the name had gone into the discard because President Wilson had made quiet intimations to the Canadian authorities regarding our American neutrality. All the Yanks retained to distinguish them from other Canadians was their modified American capshield with George Washington's coat-of-arms worked into a design with the Stars and Stripes, and the motto, in Latin "Deeds, Not Words." They dropped the words "American Legion" from their insignia and the old badges are extremely rare and command a high price from souvenir-hunters today.

Heroic Action

Within a few weeks Rassmussen jumped into notice on a dark night when he personally led a raiding handful of American Canadians against a German advanced post. His party was discovered by the Boche sentries in the front line but they scurried back under a sprinkling of machinegun bullets, bringing the outpost garrison as souvenirs. When they counted noses one American was discovered to be missing. Refusing volunteers, Rassmussen crawled back through the wire alone and found him wounded.

Just as he picked up the fallen lad a German hand grenade plunked in his shellhole. In a flash Rass seized it and threw it back, dropping flat in the same instant, to escape some of the fragments if it should go off too close by. The grenade blew up in midair, the explosion bursting one of his eardrums and a fragment wounding him in the arm. Then he picked up the wounded boy again and carried him back to the Canadian lines. The youngster died just as the willing hands of his comrades reached out to take him from the major.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Warner, Leaving For Gardena, Honored By Methodist Class

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Warner were the honored guests yesterday evening at a delightful lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Layton, as they are leaving soon to make their home in Gardena. The guests were made up of the members of the Young Married Peoples' class of the First Methodist church, Mr. Warner being president of the class.

The home was prettily decorated with scabiosa and General McArthur roses, but the greater part of the pleasant evening was passed out of doors, where vari-colored Japanese lanterns furnished a soft light. Games of various kinds and music by several members of the class were enjoyed and delicious punch was served during the evening. About thirty were present.

Mr. Warner goes to Gardena to have charge of a cannery there for his uncle.

THREE CHEERS FOR MARY

Mary had a little land,
She put it out to wheat,
And then she hesitated
To see what she should eat.

The question followed her about,
It followed her to school,
And there the teachers lectured Proportion is the rule.

"Twenty-four hundred calories
Are all that you must eat;
A single slice of war bread,
And even less of meat."

"And, oh, remember, Mary,
Of sweets you mustn't think;
Forsake all kinds of candy,
For sugar's on the blink."

"Instead buy lots of popcorn,
Buy lots of peanuts, too,
And then, perchance, as recompense

He'll come marching home to you."

versity Daily Kansan.)

STATE CATTLEMEN MEET
AT UNIVERSITY FARM

DAVIS, Cal., June 27.—Rendering more effective as a means of food supply the cattle raising business in California was the purpose of a meeting of California cattlemen at the State University Farm here today.

Unrestricted use of the national forests for grazing purposes was urged by the cattlemen who claimed that 700,000 acres could be added to the state's grazing lands in that manner. Means of stabilizing the cattle market, so as to prevent the summer glut and winter dearth of cattle; fire protection on the ranges; transportation of cattle from dry regions to points where feed is in better condition and a closer organization of the cattlemen of the state, also were given attention.

Between 100 and 200 cattlemen were in attendance. The convention was not open to the public and came at the close of a series of 44 regional meetings of cattlemen, food administration representatives and representatives of the forest service which have been held throughout the state during the last two months. Meetings continue for two days.

NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

The Seal Beach city council has directed Mayor Ord to issue a proclamation requesting the Seal Beach merchants not to handle fireworks containing powder this year. This was taken as a patriotic measure.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Quanton of Anaheim received a letter from their son Dale, who recently left to enter the naval academy at Annapolis, saying that he arrived safely, enjoyed his trip very much and was very much pleased with the school and his surroundings. One of the first persons he met there was a younger brother, Professor Campbell of the Anaheim high school faculty who is at the academy taking an officers' training course.

Claude Salisbury and John Goodell of Artesia have purchased through A. V. Porter of Fullerton 70 and 57 acres, respectively, in the Capay ranch.

The teachers of the Newport Beach school district have been re-elected for the coming year. Miss Mary Worley, principal, will teach the Seventh and Eighth grades and have charge of the cooking and music; Miss Eula Sanford, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth grades and sewing; Miss Inez Smith, First, Second and Third grades; George A. Miller, manual training and janitor work.

Aside from the regular lines of school work, the school will make an effort to maintain its previous high standard in Red Cross and war work.

All high school students may obtain their grades at the high school office beginning Friday morning and continuing Monday and Tuesday. Teachers have been busily engaged since school closed last Friday in getting the cards ready.

Probably thirty prizes will be given, and from 25 to 30 boys are expected to enter, the race being open to all Southern California riders. Ten members of the bicycle association were guests at the Cherry Blossom last night of Robert S. Gerwing, the new president, when a pleasant evening was held and race plans discussed. There was also some talk of ways and means of putting an end to the many thefts of bicycles in the county.

OBITUARY

Mary H. White, daughter of Ami and Maria Willits, was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, August 26, 1850, and died June 25, 1918, aged 67 years, 9 months and 25 days.

She moved to Legrand, Iowa, with her parents at the age of ten, where she grew to womanhood. Not being satisfied with the education offered by the public schools there, she spent two years at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

She was married to John R. White on August 26, 1875, and they lived at Legrand until 1880, when they moved to Mitchell, S. Dak., living there and at other points in the state until 1912, when they came to California, living in Los Angeles and Whittier two years and then coming to Santa Ana four years ago. She died at her home here at 174 Lyon street.

She was a birthright member of the Friends church but united with her husband and family with the Methodist church after moving to South Dakota.

She leaves a husband, four children and one sister to mourn her loss, one daughter, Mrs. Marie Knight, of Woodburn, Oregon; three sons, Everett A. White, of this city; Walter W. White, Mitchell, S. Dak.; and Robert O. White, who enlisted in the balloon division of the Signal Corps and is now stationed at Fort Omaha, Omaha, Neb. A son, Ralph, died eight years ago last Easter while in the sophomore year of Dakota Wesleyan University, Mitchell, S. Dak. Her sister, Mrs. Scott Keen, resides at Whittier.

Her life work was not of a public nature, but true to her high ideals of the home, she was constantly exemplifying the Christian graces of diligence, patience and loving service; and as a loving and faithful wife and devoted and self-sacrificing mother, she was idolized by her husband and children and greatly beloved by her neighbors and friends.

Services were held June 26 at the Mills and Winbigler Mission Funeral Home, Santa Ana. The remains are being sent to the former family home at Mitchell, S. Dak., accompanied by the husband, John R. White.

DRYING OF FRUIT
COSTS BUT LITTLE

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Dehydration, or drying of fruits and vegetables, urged now by the United States Government as a food saving measure, costs but about a quarter of a cent a pound.

The process reduces the products treated to from one-seventh to one-fifth of original size, and leaves a practically non-perishable food, affected by neither heat nor extreme cold. It requires no special container or sealing. Plain paper bags to protect against dust and insects, are the best and cheapest containers.

Re-hydration—restoring the water to the vegetable—requires from 20 minutes to two hours; and the re-constituted product has lost neither its original flavor nor its color.

TYPES GAS STORY WITH HIS GAS MASK ON

Everybody Knows How Mask Looks; War Writer Tells How It Feels

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES
IN PICARDY, June 5.—(By Mail.)—
This is a story about gas, written with a gas mask on.

A flickering candle furnishes the light. It is night. Outside the roar of the regular artillery bombardment of the night can be heard. The light of the guns flashes across the sky. The hum of airplanes can be heard overhead in the moonlight, while an anti-aircraft gun over at the right barks in protest at the invading foe of the air.

The gas mask is not comfortable, but this is to demonstrate that your boy from home who may have to wear one is not helpless in it. The eye pieces—the windows—cloud up a good deal, but after taking your finger and carefully pushing in the side of the mask, the windows can be wiped. This must be done carefully, so there is no leak along the side of the face. The mask must remain tight and snug.

Breathe Through Mouth
The nose clip is on my nose, as I write. A rubber hose with a mouth-piece much like a football nose guard runs from the box respirator. If you can just forget about the mask, and breathe naturally, through your mouth instead of your nose, you get along in great shape. If you get fussy about it, there's likely to be trouble.

The secret of combating gas is to keep your head. When there is a gas alarm, a soldier is taught to put on his gas mask and keep it on. Well trained troops do not often suffer heavy gas casualties nowadays.

The best the boche can hope for is to impair their efficiency while they are wearing the masks.

Here is where I change paper in typewriter.
I am making four carbons of this, so I have to take this paper out, count out five other sheets, put the carbons in place and "reload" the typewriter. (Business of "cleaning the windows.")

Not Slow Work
It took me just a minute and a half to change paper, and the new sheets are in straight. I'll leave it to the copy editor if the typing of this story isn't just about as good as my copy written under normal conditions.

This mask is an absolute guard against gas. If you have it on properly and keep it on until the danger is past, you are not going to be gassed. The boche introduced gas, but the British brought out the respirator mask, and took away much of the frightfulness the boche had planned. There never will be such a gassing as that of the battle of Ypres under present conditions. There is an element of surprise in gas thrown in shells, but unless a man is gassed within a couple of minutes after the first shell hits, he is not likely to be gassed at all if he takes the proper precautions as to putting on his mask and keeping it on.

Men work their guns in artillery positions with gas masks on when necessary. It isn't an ideal way to have to fire, but it can be done. I have just walked outside and had a look at a boche airplane and the burst of anti-aircraft shells about it, and returned—with the mask still on. The "windows" are clear enough to enable me to see the black dot—the boche—in the sky. Forty minutes have passed since I put on the mask and started this story.

The Italian automobile industry is centered in Turin, the seven most prominent cars being manufactured in this city. Of these, the F. I. A. T. is perhaps the most widely known, since practically 80 per cent of Italian cars are of this make.

BOYS WILL SING DESPITE ROAR OF SHELLS

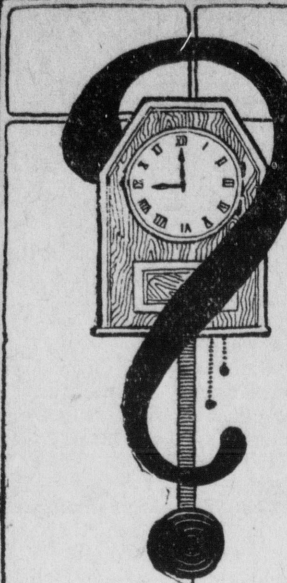

New Draft Entrainment Starts Today, to Be Completed on June 28

WIES THE AMERICAN FORCES
IN PICARDY, May 29.—(By Mail.)—
"I wonder who's kissing her now,"
I wonder who's teaching her how?"
They are in the gathering darkness just outside the window of the United Press billet, the soldiers who are singing this. It is in Picardy, just back of the great battle line and on the road these same soldiers must hold to turn the German armies back from Paris.

A nightingale adds its song. The air is heavy with the smell of apple blossoms. The buds on the trees are rapidly raking the form of leaves. Along the crooked little street that is the "backbone" on which the low, quaint little houses of the village are built, come other boys from home.

"I wonder who's buying the wine," or the lips that I used to call mine."

No Drug Store Here
The song goes on. These other boys join the group. It is like a gathering of neighborhood pals at the corner drug store to try out a little harmony. But they are leaning against the cold stone of an old peaked-roof French stable and house. The military police waves the traffic of war by, as it is a cross-roads, and regulations are strict. Caissons, wagons loaded with forage, ammunition and supplies roll by. There is an occasional whine of a shell as the enemy artillery begins to limber up, but with more voices joining in, the song goes on:

"I wonder if she ever tells him of me, I wonder who's kissing her now."
The singing drifts to "Good Night Ladies." The traffic becomes heavier, the roar of the guns louder, the whine and burst of shells more frequent. Soon the sky is aflame. Windows and doors rattle as the little house trembles from the concussion of guns. Another night of killing and destruction is under way.

There was a very large increase in shipments of rice to the United States in 1917 compared with previous years. These shipments have extended in ever increasing ratio during the current year, and present indications are that the year's record in this line will exceed anything of the kind ever known in this market. Declared exports of rice from Hongkong to the United States for the first quarter of the current year amounted to 60,309 short tons, valued at $4,219,786 gold, as compared with 25,647 short tons, valued at $1,413,998, in the first quarter of 1917. Whereas, much of the former shipments of rice from this market to the United States was for transshipment to Mexico, Central and South America and the West Indies, practically the whole of it is now going to the United States for American consumption.

Will Approve Bonds Sale for Jetty

WALLACE BRINGS GOOD REPORT ON HARBOR

Has Approval of Capital Issues Committee If County Bonds Are Voted

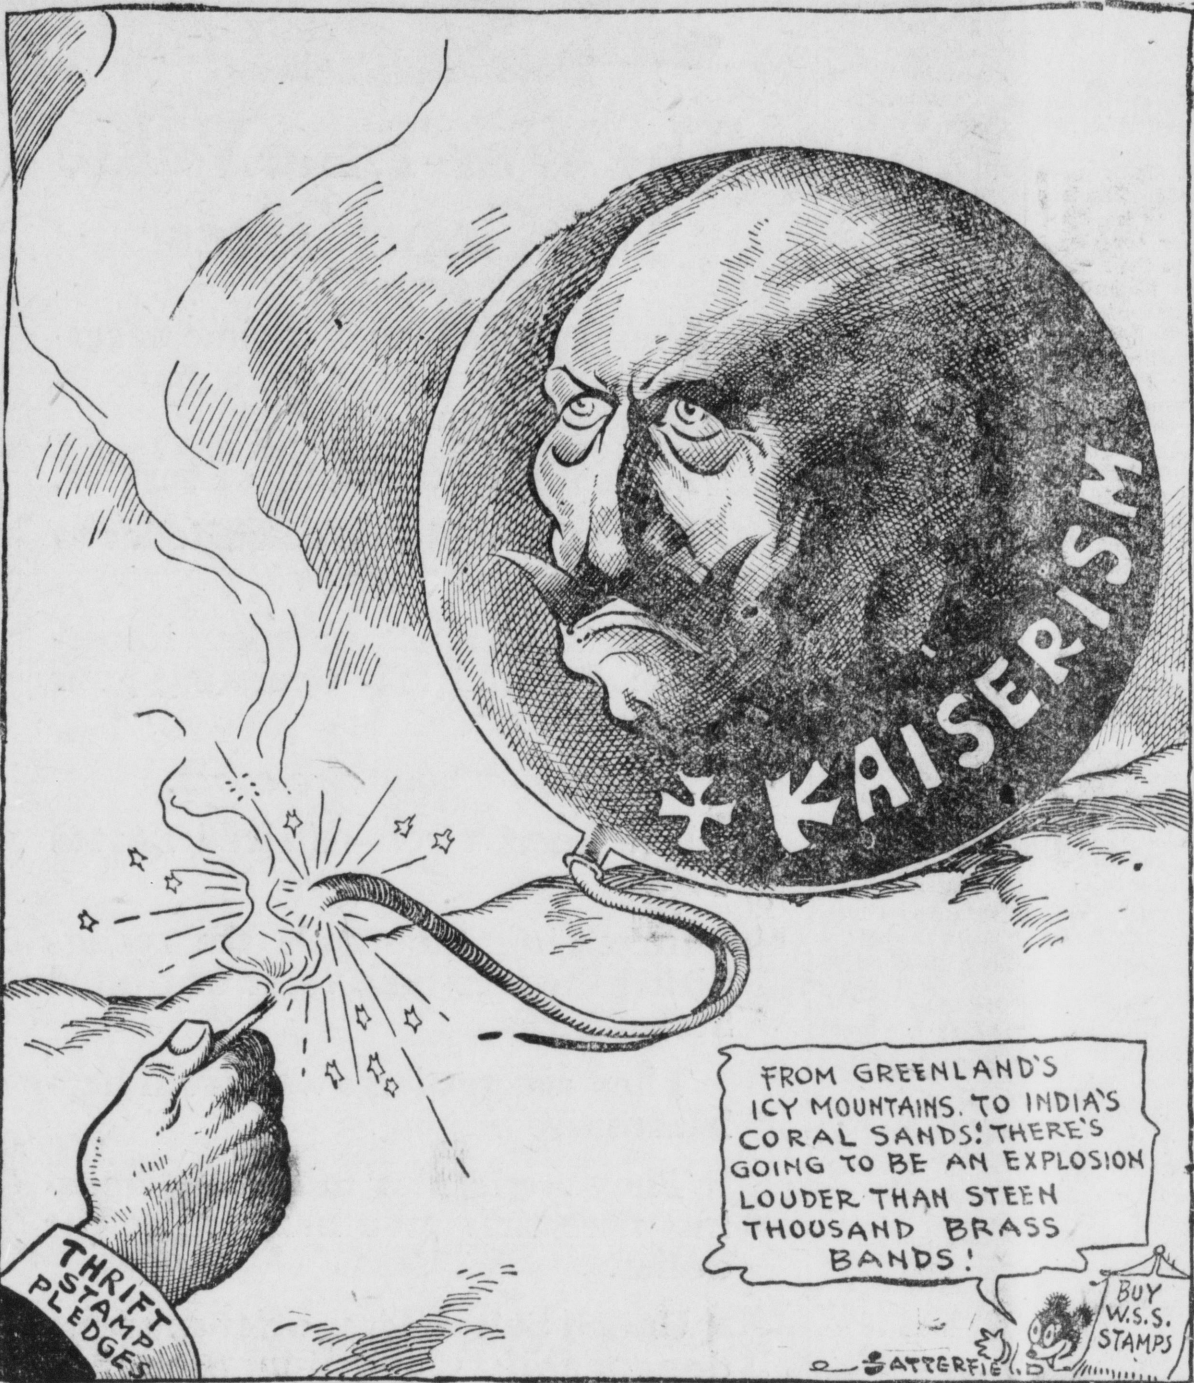

Permission to sell bonds sufficient to complete the jetty at Newport Beach, and possible permission to sell enough to change the Santa Ana river from Newport Bay to the ocean, should the county vote the proposed issue of $500,000 for the improvement of Newport harbor, will be forthcoming from the Capital Issues Committee if the election is held and bonds voted. This was the report of Lew H. Wallace to the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting at Seal Beach last night.

Wallace went to Washington some weeks ago for the special purpose of conferring with the board of army engineers and Rivers and Harbors committee, and the success he met with was beyond his expectation. He got everything he went after.

"I hardly know where to commence my report," said Wallace, when called upon to make a report as chairman of the harbor committee. "I want to give honor where honor is due—this is not a political year so far as congressmen from this district is concerned and there is to be no endorsed Republican candidate for congress—and I want to give honor to William Kettner. Had it not been for him my trip would not have been as successful as it was. He is a big man in Washington, and although a very busy man he gave me considerable time and worked hard in our interest.

"I was sent to Washington by the City Council of Newport Beach to see if I could not do something that would result in the report of Col. Heuer on the harbor being published. To do that it was necessary to get the report before congress. Three steps are necessary. The final step is the report of the Rivers and Harbors committee to Congress. We did not hope for approval this year, because of war conditions, yet in order that we might be in line for an appropriation in the future, it was necessary to get the matter started, and we will get results later.

"Heuer came to Newport and made an examination of the harbor and made his report on the Leeds survey. His report is a most favorable one, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. I assured the harbor committee that we did not want an appropriation—that all we wanted at this time was the release of Heuer's report so that it could be published. The board stated that they would proceed with the Heuer plans, and a public hearing has been set for July 18, at the supervisors' room in this city, to develop the matter of changing the course of the river into the ocean. In the meantime Heuer's report will be published, and it is an exceptionally favorable report to the harbor.

"Through Kettner's influence I was able to go before the Capital Issues Committee for a hearing on the bond issue. I returned home with a signed statement that the sub-committee of the Capital Issues Committee was in error when it advised that it had authority to withhold approval of the sale of bonds prior to their being voted."

Letter from Drumm
Wallace then read the letter, which was dictated by John S. Drumm, chairman, and signed by his secretary. It is as follows:

Washington, May 28, 1918.
Mr. Lew H. Wallace,
Seely Orange County Harbor Commission,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:
In regard to the application of Orange County, California, for approval of $500,000 bonds for harbor improvement purposes, we wish to inform you that as your record shows that the matter of the issuance of these bonds has not been referred as yet to the voters of Orange County for approval, the matter would not, at this time, be considered by this committee.

It has not been the policy of the Committee to consider these applications until after bond elections have been held, and the wish of the voters indicated. However, as these elections are always expensive, in certain exceptional cases the Committee has indicated informally, in advance of election, what its action would likely be. Assuming in this case that such was your present status, the Committee, as at present advised, would likely confirm the application to the extent of approximately $36,000, for the purpose of completing the jetting for which the City of Newport Beach has already bonded itself.

The Committee does not believe, at this time, that it would look favorably upon an approval to the further extent of $125,000 for costs of cross cut from Santa Ana River to the Pacific Ocean, to remove the silt which accumulates in the present harbor at times of exceptional storms.

In the event that an election is held in Orange County nevertheless, and the full issue of bonds is approved, the Committee will, however, entertain an application for bonds to be issued in this amount. As to the balance of the issue, the Committee understands from you that the county, in any event, would be willing to forego issuing any of the remaining portion of the bond issue until after the war.

Yours truly,
CAPITAL ISSUES COMMITTEE,
By S. O. SELDING.

To Point of Election
"This letter means that we would be given permission to sell bonds for the jetty work and practically means that we would be given permission to dispose of enough bonds to carry the river to the ocean," said Wallace in continuing his report.

"In the matter of dredging the bay, I was perfectly willing to concede the point that this was not necessary unless we should develop a shipbuilding plant and dredging should be necessary to make it possible to launch completed boats and float them to the ocean.

"This brings us to the point again of the advisability of calling a bond election. We should all concentrate our efforts on the winning of this war, and the only opposition the board of engineers and rivers and harbors committee had to the project was that it would call for men and material needed by the government. The government needs ships—all that can be built and as fast as they can be built—and I believe the capital issues committee would readily consent to the sale of bonds for harbor dredging if we develop a shipbuilding plant. If we decide to call the election and the bonds are voted, we would not have to pay interest on the bonds not sold. At most the proposition would cost but little and after the war is over we would be in position to proceed with the development of the harbor project."

T. B. Talbert, reporting as chairman of the manufacturing committee, said that he had something at Huntington Beach that, in his opinion, was of more importance at this time than the harbor—the insoluble factory. He said that his company had been experimenting for some months with a substitute for cotton sheeting with a manufacture of oil cloth, and that the results had been most satisfactory. The firm has developed a process for using wood fibre, or paper, instead of cotton sheeting. The product manufactured under the new process will wear longer than that made with cotton sheeting. It will tear easier, however, and care should be exercised in applying it.

"We have been struggling to get away from the cotton situation," said Talbert, "and we have succeeded in developing this substitute. We can produce it so that it can sell at least 10 cents a yard less than the product manufactured with cotton, and every 10 cents saved in these war times makes it possible for the public to save that much to loan the government for war purposes.

"All that we are asking is that the public of Orange County boost the goods and demand them when dealing with county merchants. We can save freight, for practically all the materials used in our product are procurable right here on the Pacific coast. We are releasing cotton, we are releasing men, and we are releasing cars for the government service, and by local people insisting on the home-made product we can develop a good business here.

"We have the only factory of the kind west of the Mississippi, and we hope to develop a big business in this territory."

Talbert had a number of samples of the new product and passed them out for inspection. It was suggested by R. L. Bisby that Talbert get in touch with the federal railroad commission, and that possibly arrangements could be made where goods manufactured in the east would not be shipped into this zone in competition with the local product, as this would save cars for operation in other sections.

For the Honor Roll
Dr. Freeman, one of the committee appointed some time ago to arrange for an honor roll of men serving from this county, reported.

Some member of the committee will, within the next few days, visit every auxiliary and postoffice and assist in completing the roll.

Metzger Is Appreciative
Resolutions of regret at the illness of Secretary J. C. Metzger were passed at the Yorba Linda meeting. Metzger has not recovered sufficiently to attend to his office duties, although he is at the office for a few minutes each day. Secretary Pro Tem Bisby read a letter from Metzger in which he expressed his appreciation of the thoughtfulness of the members of the Associated Chambers.

Suggests Enlargement of Membership
T. B. Talbert suggested that the number of delegates to the Associated Chambers from incorporated cities be increased from two to four and from unincorporated communities from one to two.

"Ten years ago Orange county was a small county as compared to today," said Talbert. "We have increased 100 per cent in population and 300 per cent in assessed valuation, while the membership of the organization has not been increased. Enlargement of the membership will interest just that many more men in the work of the county organization." Many voiced approval of the suggestion and it will be a special order of business at the next meeting.

Addresses
Frank Burt of Seal Beach delivered the address of welcome, and the response was by Prof. Hauck of Fullerton.

John Beardsley of Pasadena made a brief talk in behalf of support of the War Savings Stamps, for which a national campaign is now on.

The banquet served by the Seal Inn was of a high order, the management taking special pains to see that those in attendance had good service and a good time. Instrumental and vocal music was rendered by high class artists during the dinner hour.

The July meeting will be held at the Palisades tavern.

ARE BOUND FOR SPRUCE WOODS TO WORK FOR UNCLE SAM

Thirty-five Limited Service Drafted Men Leave For Vancouver

Thirty-five Orange county men are today on their way to work for Uncle Sam in the spruce forests of Washington. These are limited service men, twenty-one of the men took a Pacific Electric car at the corner of Sixth and Main streets this morning at 7 o'clock, and started for Los Angeles, where they joined fourteen men from Co. 2 district, as well as a large number of other Southern California men. It bound for the timber area, from which the government is getting its cropland lumber.

The men were given a rousing send-off in Santa Ana. Since the men are not bound for the trenches, the farewell was not steeped in tears. However, the sacrifices of these men were fittingly portrayed by District Attorney L. A. West in an address to the men yesterday afternoon at the corner of Sycamore and Fourth streets. They are leaving their homes and their jobs to go to work for Uncle Sam.

"Your duties far from the fighting line are important," said West. "Without the men behind the lines and the soldiery this side of the Atlantic, the men at the front would be without the materials with which to fight and live."

Comfort kits were presented by Mrs. F. W. Johnston, president of Belle Rogers W. C. T. U., and prayer was by Rev. A. T. O'Rear. A collection was taken for the use of the men. Sheriff Jackson was chairman of the exercises. Music was furnished by members of the Santa Ana Band, which has never failed to respond to a call for its patriotic services.

Chairman Tabbs and Secretary Nau of the local board placed Bernard Nuffer of Orange in charge of the party, with Theodore West and Ralph McTaggart as his assistants.

Charles H. Mooney, who was listed to go, failed to show up. His last address in possession of the local board was Los Angeles. The first alternate, Federico Belasquez of San Juan Capistrano went in his place.

Those Going North
The men who went from here are: Theodore West, 1007 Riverline; Spencer S. Collins, 628 Broadway; Coleman A. Hargel, 918 Leary; Ralph M. Doyle, 208 South Sycamore; Bernard Nuffer, 1220 East Palmyra, Orange; Thomas D. Daniels, 202 Hathaway; Arthur J. Brady, South Flower; Ralph A. McTaggart, Tustin; Bazeman Barton, Long Beach; John C. Alexander, San Pedro; Fred L. Young, R. D. 7, Santa Ana; Ripley B. Sears, Yuma, Ariz.; Verna C. Lay, Corcoran; Geo. E. Amos, 306 North Lemon, Orange; George L. Swager, El Toro; Fred E. Waldow, 403 South Grand, Orange; William B. Coe, San Juan Capistrano; George W. Hildebrand, R. D. 7, Santa Ana; Chester A. Rose, 417 Cypress avenue; Manuel G. Pangilla, 302 1/2 East Fourth; Seferino Belasquez, San Juan Capistrano.

From No. 2 District
The fourteen men who went from Fullerton for No. 2 district are: J. M. Good, Fullerton; Albert E. Rees, Brea; Antony Swenczycki, La Habra; G. W. Irwin, Los Angeles; Robert E. McGill, Montebello; John J. Britton, Casper, Wyo.; Milton Varner, Fullerton R. D. 4; Charles T. Carroll, Anaheim; Joseph A. Fallert, Fullerton; Clarence H. Hoosier, Placentia; Daniel W. Herron, Fullerton; Ygnacio Noriega, Brea; Lewis M. Smith, R. D. 3; Fullerton; Jesse Sharp, La Habra.

Will Join Others
Orange county already has a number of men at work in the spruce production department of the army. On completing officers training school at San Francisco last fall, Lieut. Edwin McFadden of Santa Ana was assigned immediately to that work. From Camp Lewis, Lieut. F. L. Worden was transferred to Vancouver Barracks, which is the point of destination of the men leaving today. Lieut. Earl Burdick from this county is in that work. Several auto mechanics, a clerk and a railroad man went from this county to Vancouver Barracks two weeks ago.

Upon arriving at Vancouver Barracks, the men sent from here will be given physical examinations and will be distributed to their posts.

BIGGER SAVINGS

The value of baking powder is based on its leavening strength. You can't judge it by the size of the can—or by the amount you get for your money. You must estimate it by the amount of baking powder used in each baking and the results you get.

CALUMET

is the greatest value ever offered in Baking Powder—it has greater raising "force"—it goes further than most of the other brands. You use only a rounded or heaping teaspoonful where others call for two teaspoonfuls or more.

But Baking Powder is not all you'll save when using Calumet. You save baking materials. Calumet never fails. The last level teaspoonful is as powerful as the first. Calumet is perfectly manufactured—keeps perfectly—and is moderate in price.

You save when you buy it—You save when you use it

One trial will satisfy you of these facts—and demonstrate beyond doubt that "Calumet spells economy."

Your grocer sells it on a guarantee of money back if you are not pleased with results.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Authorities.

Is the Basis of Modern Business

Law determines a man's individual rights in the courts, but a man's standing in the community is judged by his character and credit.

One is founded on training, moral strength, honesty of purpose and integrity—the other is based upon experience, industry, capacity for making money and saving it and the faith others have in him. There is no greater character moulder, or credit builder than a bank account. It means moral and mental as well as physical freedom.

WAS PROUD DAY AS SOLDIERS GET FRENCH WAR CROSS

'My Throat Was Throbbing
and I Felt Like Bawling,' Says Witness

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY AT
THE FRONT, May 30 (By Mail).—
"Your blood just wouldn't keep quiet in your veins as you stood on that hill and watched the boys marching by in waves with the band playing good old American music and the Stars and Stripes waving over them. Believe me, it's the best flag in this world, boys. I don't know why, but my throat was throbbing and I felt like bawling."

These spontaneous words of a soldier as he told his mess-mates of the citation by the French army of the 104th regiment and 122 Massachusetts men for their bravery in repelling the Germans in Apremont Woods are too vivid to be lost. He was a Massachusetts man, too, and had from another regiment,
and he had been privileged to watch the Croix de Guerre ceremony. Imagine yourself on the crest of a hillside surrounded by woods and listen to his story.

Band Plays—Cannon Booms
"The band struck up with real music and led the boys to the field. They'd just formed three sides of a square, and the fellows who were going to get the Croix de Guerre lined up across the open space in it, when Heinie lets go over Siecheprey way with a lot of his heaves. 'Course we didn't get anything but the booming. It mixed well with the band, especially when our fellows slammed them back
two and three to Heinie's one."

"They didn't slow up the doings a bit, and it made 'em all the more appropriate. They played the Star-Spangled Banner and Marseillaise, and then the French general goes down the line pinning the little green ribbon and the cross on each fellow.
Gosh, the way their chests stuck out, and I don't blame them. Who wouldn't like one of those crosses!"

"But I'd rather fight two Heinies single handed than stand in the line.
I guess a lot of those boys would rather do it, too. One fellow fainted dead, when he got his Croix de Guerre.
Gas shells and Heinies never phased him, but he couldn't face this."
"Our general went along, too, and shook hands with each man, and told him something. I asked one chap what the general told him and it was,
'Cheer up, it's nothing against you.'
Most of the boys needed that kind of encouragement, for they took it awfully seriously, even the two chaplains who were decorated for carrying fellows in under hell-fire."

Parade Follows
"After the crosses were all pinned up, the generals with their staffs and the boys with the Croix de Guerre on them went up on the hill top to watch the regimental drill. Those boys pulled off a proud parade, too, on that hillside, for the old khaki made the companies blend into the color of the woods and the ground. And last came the machine gun companies, with mules pulling their carts just as proud as the rest of them."

"They had the new Massachusetts flag which just came out there and with the old Star-Spangled banner, it was some moving picture, boys, and a great day for Massachusetts."

to tell his messmates was that Fate

BESSIE BARRISCALE IN "THOSE WHO PAY"

FARM BUREAU MEN HAVE INSPECTION OF LEFFINGWELL RANCH

Over two hundred Farm Bureau members and their guests met at the headquarters building of the Leffingwell ranch yesterday, crowding more than full the rather capacious recreation hall which was used for the assembly.

Dr. McBeth, the superintendent, introduced successively his staff of specialists in soils, irrigation, pruning, insecticides, and packing house manager. Each of these gave most instructive talks upon his special topic and Dr. McBeth then took the excursion in charge for the examination of the nearly 400-acre orchard. This was most profitable in demonstration of fertilization, pruning, irrigation, and cultivation methods, all of which will be discussed in the programs of the various Farm Center meetings of the county in the near future. All visitors seemed to consider it a most profitable afternoon, and all marvelled at the very fine productive conditions of the great orchard which it is generally known was in such poor condition several years ago. The courtesy thus extended by Dr. McBeth and his assistants to the Farm Bureau was highly appreciated by all visitors and the doctor and his staff were kind enough to say that they also shared in the benefits of the day in the opportunity to meet and talk with so many capable men from outside their daily range of contact.

Next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the school auditorium at Fullerton
Mr. Fleet, manager of the Rancho Sespe, and a famous authority upon citrus pruning, will speak upon "Pruning the Lemon," to the Fullerton Farm Center and all other centers are invited to attend. There should be a crowded house.

Strong Appeal In New Pic- ture at Temple Tonight and Tomorrow

Another Thomas H. Ince dramatic triumph will be shown at the Temple Theater tonight and tomorrow. Produced by the far famed master of lights and shadows, written by C.
Gardner Sullivan, conceded to be the foremost of all photoplay authors and starring the inimitable Bessie Barriscale, "Those Who Pay," offers a combination of star, story and producer that is absolutely unsurpassable.

As Dorothy Warner, the pretty shop girl, forced to solve the problem of supporting herself and a baby sister on $10 a week, Bessie Barriscale takes advantage of the very opening scenes of the drama to draw her audience, heart and soul, into C. Gardner Sullivan's wonderful story and make them live with her the tense, dramatic moments which follow each other in quick succession through her tragic career.

You appreciate the feelings which prompt her to steal the Christmas doll for her dying sister, her fascination for the handsome lawyer who comes to her rescue and later lightens her burdens by making her his private secretary, the development of the deep and all-powerful love which compels her to accept his attentions even when forced to entertain his political friends and smile through her tears
while enduring their insulting insinuations, the terrible shock that comes with the knowledge that the idol of her love is a married man, the night struggle in which her better self triumphs and she goes to see his lovely and innocent wife, the heartaches of this tragic interview and, in the end,
her beautiful and noble renunciation of the one who means more than life to her. Bessie Barriscale carries you through all of these intensely interesting scenes with such rare exhibitions of her wonderful genius and rises to such magnificent heights of powerful acting that "Those Who Pay" stands out prominently as one of the truly great silent dramas of the screen history.

BEES ON RAMPAGE AT TALBERT PAINFULLY STING GRACE MALAN

Infuriated Insects Attack Girl and Try to Follow Her
Into the House

TALBERT, June 27.—Miss Grace
Malan was severely stung by bees on Monday while attempting to rob the hive of honey. Miss Malan was accustomed to working with the bees, so took no precaution upon going to the hive. She evidently either took out the queen or in some other way unknown to her offended them, for the entire swarm settled upon her, stinging her at least fifty times before she gained the refuge of the house.

Mrs. Plavan, who was watching, grabbed a sack by the door and fought the bees off until she was safely inside. The insects were so furious that they tried to get into the house, literally covering the doors and windows in their efforts to find a way in.
Miss Malan was left quite ill and was unable to arise Tuesday morning.
At the latest report, however, she was feeling considerably better.

Party Friday Evening
The members of the Young Peoples' Epworth League of the Talbert church are making great plans for a party to be held Friday evening of this week in the church reception rooms. These parties are somewhat of a contest between the boys and the girls of the league and create great rivalry. The boys planned the last party given and the girls have this one in charge. It is expected that a number of visitors from Greenville will be present on this evening to help them enjoy the good time.

The league meets regularly each Sunday evening at 5:30, just prior to the hour for preaching service, and a fairly good attendance is kept up by the young people of the community of whom there is not a large number.

Miss Mildred Swift visited the Intermediate school of Santa Ana Thursday with Wilma Plavan, who was a member of this year's graduating class.

entraining for either the trip to France or another training camp. He said it was expected that the move would be made the latter part of last week or the first of this and not later than the middle of the week at the furthest date.

Harper is now a corporal in the artillery, having joined his company immediately after being relieved on Tuesday of last week from quarantine where he had been for weeks.
It had not been possible for him to see much of his wife, who went to Tacoma two weeks ago, on account of the quarantine restrictions, which proved very disappointing to both. It had been expected that the quarantine would be raised sooner and he had planned to spend the week-end with her at her grandmother's, with whom she is staying, just fourteen miles from Camp Lewis, but the time being extended until Tuesday changed these plans.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert received a letter Friday from Harvey Studebaker, who is also at American Lake in the 364th Infantry, telling of moving orders having been received. He stated that they had been informed of the date of their departure but could only say that the change would be made inside of two weeks. A part of their luggage had already been sent away.

Tom Gisler and Ed Hanley, also of this place, are in Studebaker's company and Herman Kutzner is in the artillery company with Harper.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Frank Planchon underwent a serious operation Tuesday morning at the Anaheim Sanitarium and was doing as well as could be expected at the last account. Her sister, Mrs.
Charles Grislet, is keeping the little girl and the boys are at present with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker at Elk man, but will come some time this week to Arnold Walker's to remain near their mother.

Entertains at Party

Ruth Harper entertained a few of her young friends with a party at her home last Saturday evening, there being present Ellen, Louise and Martha Wardlow and Annie Gisler. The girls had a most enjoyable evening and were served tempting refreshments of ice cream, cake and fruits
by the hostess' mother, Mrs. J. O.
Harper.

Family Dinner Party

Mrs. A. E. Jones and son Perry gave a dinner at their home last Sunday at which were entertained a number of the immediate members of the family. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Will Jones and little daughter,
Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jones, Mrs. Lawton and daughter Eunice of Huntington Beach, Mrs. N. Baisdon of Taft,
a sister-in-law of Mrs. E. A. Jones,
and her daughter, Mrs. Joe Burdell and three children, also of Taft. Mrs.
Baisdon, Mrs. Burdell and family are spending the week at the Jones home.

Brief Talbert Items

Mrs. Frank Carrilli and children and sister, Miss Nole, spent the day
Tuesday as guests of Mrs. Jess Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Brady and sons Lloyd and Kenneth of Hollywood, came Saturday evening to the S. E. Talbert home, remaining over until Sunday evening. Mr. Brady is a brother of Mrs. Talbert.

F. D. Plavan and daughters, the Misses Wilma and Edith, motored Monday to Perris where the latter will remain through the harvest to

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET
Beans show another decline of 1/4 cent
a pound owing to the fact that the patriotic response of the farmers to the appeal of the government for a large crop resulted in a tremendous yield and large quantities remain unsold in the hands of the growers. The requirements of the army and navy have been fully supplied for the season, it is stated.

The United States Food Administration,
in a statement to the farmers, assured them that, regardless of the tonnage produced, next crop prices would be stabilized and that the army and the navy again will demand thousands of tons early this fall.

Cherries were scarce on the local exchange yesterday owing to northern shipments having fallen off considerably. As the result, prices are holding up, northern selling at 15 cents per pound and blacks at from 10 to 14 cents.

Onions, peas, asparagus and old potatoes are declining in volume and moving rapidly. The season is evidently one or two weeks earlier than last year. There is a slight decline in prices.

On butter, while eggs advanced a cent
the close of the call yesterday, Cheese prices were firm.

DRY ORDINANCE MAY BE VOTED AT ANAHEIM TONIGHT

Wets Threaten Referendum
Election If Bone-Dry
Measure Carries

THREE VOTES PLEDGED
FOR LAW, SAYS CAILOR

Would Stop Sale and Use of
All Liquor of 1/2 of 1
Per Cent Alcohol

BY WAYNE GOBLE

"Is Anaheim going dry?" I asked the boss. "Dunno," says he, "go over and find out." So I went.

The Mother Colony has a population estimated at approximately five thousand people, and as far as I was able to discover yesterday afternoon, there are just about that many views on how and when Anaheim is going dry. At least I found no two people expressing the same shade of opinion on this question which has been occupying the center of the stage over there since William Stark's recent announcement that when the dry matter comes up for decision in the city council, and any change is to be made in existing conditions, he will cast his ballot for a bone dry town, rather than any "half-way" measure which would eliminate the saloons but leave the whole-sale houses. Stark owns a saloon and went up in the air when he learned of a move on foot to put out the bars and leave the wholesalers.

The Anaheim city dads meet tonight and everybody expects something to happen, but apparently everybody's "something" is a little bit different from the next fellow's. Nobody knows definitely what'll happen, and a lot of people will be there to find out.

The proposed dry ordinance, which was first read two weeks ago, will be presented tonight. That is the statement of Attorney O. T. Cailor, who has been leading the bone dry forces. Cailor is equally confident that the ordinance will be passed tonight, as he says he has the promise of three trustees, William Stark, Frank N. Gibbs and J. J. Dwyer, that they will vote for the measure. He also claims Trustees F. A. Backs, Jr., and R. J. McFadden have not expressed approval of the bone dry move and are not generally expected to vote for it. So far so good.

On the other hand, some of the wholesale liquor dealers said they don't really believe the bone dry law will come to a vote tonight, and hope the situation will be left just as it is until the general election comes in the fall with two state-dry bills on the ballot, when the question can be settled for the city and the state at the same time.

"What's going to happen Thursday night?" I asked one well known wholesaler.

"Blamed if I know," he replied, "but take it from me, if the council should pass the bone dry ordinance, there's going to be a referendum election on the question. It's too big a matter for a board of five men to decide for five thousand people. The people will get a chance to vote on a wet-or-dry Anaheim if the present situation is disturbed."

"Anaheim had a nasty wet-and-dry election five years ago," he continued, "neighbor was against neighbor, and the enmity engendered at that time was not overcome until the Second Liberty Loan campaign, when we all got in and worked and put the town away up. Now if the liquor question is made an issue there will be another nasty scrap and it will interfere with the town's patriotic duty in winning the war, for the two sides will not unite amicably in any of the patriotic campaigns. If closing of all liquor houses were generally considered necessary to win the war, there would be mighty few owners who wouldn't slap on the padlock at once, but as long as the national leaders, including Hoover, think prohibition should not be an issue to divide the people at this time when all effort is needed to win the war, I see no reason for a local campaign on the subject."

Several prominent merchants interviewed said there would no doubt be a great loss of patronage in the Anaheim stores if the town goes dry, as a great deal of trade is attracted from outside points by the wet spots, especially on Saturday nights. One Pomona man bought a $9 pair of shoes last Saturday night and a San Bernardino family also made shoe purchases, one man reported.

"Where do they get that stuff?" exclaimed the next man interviewed. "I swallowed that before, but I'm not going to do it now. The booze joints are doomed and they might as well submit gracefully to the will of the people. There may be a referendum election, but I'm confident that the vote will put booze out of the running."

So I went and saw and heard, but I didn't conquer. I found everybody has been talking about the wet-and-dry situation, with volleys of rumors flying about seeking whom they may devour and everybody waiting for tonight's meeting to show which way the wind is likely to blow.

Although the wholesaler professed to believe the bone dry ordinance would not pass, a stack of "case goods" in his establishment prominently displayed the two following signs: "BUY A CASE—You Will Need Me—John Barleycorn," and "TAKE ME and put me in the cellar for the future—John Barleycorn."

Those in the business evidently hope for the best and fear for the worst. The dries to all appearances hope for the best and expect it.

Tonight starts the fray—now let's see what happens.

Copy of Proposed Law

Minor changes in the proposed ordinance suggested at the last council meeting by City Attorney H. G. Ames have not been made, for, as Cailor said last night, "It isn't 'case ordinance,' and the bill will be presented to the council tonight in the same form in which it was read two weeks ago. Should the council decide that any changes are necessary, vote on the measure would likely have to be postponed until a following meeting, so the fireworks might possibly not pop tonight."

The ordinance proposed, copied from the San Bernardino and Needles laws, reads as follows:

An Ordinance Prohibiting Traffic in Alcoholic Liquors Within the City of Anaheim and Repealing all Ordinances and Parts of Ordinances in Conflict Therewith.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Anaheim do ordain as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, or any association or club, within the city of Anaheim, to keep, conduct or establish, either as principal or agent, any place where alcoholic liquors are manufactured, sold, served, given away or distributed, or delivered, or received, or are kept for the purpose of sale, distribution, or to be served or given away, nor shall any such alcoholic liquors be manufactured, sold or given away on or in any such place, or on or in any street, alley, park, vacant lot or public place within said city, except as provided in section 3 of this ordinance, and every day that such place shall be kept, established or conducted, shall constitute a separate offense.

Sec. 2. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, association or club, to solicit orders for the sale of alcoholic liquors, within the city of Anaheim, provided that this shall not apply to the soliciting of such orders from a registered pharmacist at his place of business.

Sec. 3. Nothing in this ordinance shall be interpreted as rendering it unlawful to keep alcoholic liquors for distribution, or to sell or distribute such liquors in said city of Anaheim, in the manner and for the purpose in this section provided:

First. The serving of such liquors by any person at his own home to members of his family, or to his

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curves of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Rowley Drug Co., and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance, the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull bright become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION:—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness and sleeplessness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh. Adv.

GUNNERS WORKING UNDER GAS ATTACK

In the present attempts of the Huns to pierce the allied line with their powerful thrusts, the allied gunners have been playing a stellar role. Though gas attacks are constantly being employed by the Germans, the gunners with the aid of their gas masks have stuck to their posts, working at times for four hours at a stretch under heavy gas bombardments, being relieved only when wounded and carried behind the lines. Note the camouflaged position overhead to hide them from any aerial attacks.

guests as an act of hospitality, when no money or thing of value is received in return therefor, and when any such home is not a place of public resort.

Second. The selling or dispensing of such liquors by any registered pharmacist for bona fide medicinal purposes only, upon a prescription issued, signed and dated by a duly licensed physician, provided that the name of the person applying for the prescription and the name of the person for whose use such prescription is made shall be inserted in such prescription by the physician issuing the same at the time the prescription is made or given, and that not more than one sale or furnishing is made upon any one prescription, and then only upon the date of the issuance thereof, and that all such prescriptions are kept on file at the place of business of such pharmacist, open to public inspection at all times during regular business hours; provided, that no such liquors so dispensed shall be drunk upon the premises where sold or dispensed.

Third. The selling of alcohol by a registered pharmacist for other uses than as a beverage; provided, that such pharmacist shall keep a record of such sales in which shall be entered the date of the sale, the quantity sold, the purpose for which purchased, and the signature of the person purchasing the same; such record to be open to public inspection at all times during regular business hours.

Fourth. The selling of wine by a regular licensed pharmacist for sacramental purposes only; provided such wine is sold only to a regularly ordained minister of some religious denomination, or upon the written order of the local official board or governing body of a religious organization; provided, further, that such pharmacist shall keep a record of such sales in which shall be entered the date of sale, the quantity sold, and the signature of the person purchasing the same; such record to be open to public inspection at all times during regular business hours.

Fifth. The distributing of wine at the sacramental services of any religious organization.

Sixth. The keeping of alcoholic liquors on the premises of registered pharmacists at their places of business.

Sec. 4. No physician shall give to, or write for, any well person, or persons, not in actual need of said liquor as a medicine, any prescription for alcoholic liquors, either separately or compounded with other ingredients; and any physician who shall assist in violating or evading any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be liable to the penalty provided in section 9 hereof.

Sec. 5. No person shall sell, give or furnish any vinous, malt or spirituous liquors or other alcoholic liquors to any person within said city of Anaheim, except as in this ordinance provided.

Sec. 6. All places where alcoholic liquors are sold or distributed, or are kept for sale or distribution, in violation of any of the provisions of this act, are hereby declared to be common nuisances, and shall be abated as such, and it shall be the duty of the city attorney to take action to abate such nuisances.

Sec. 7. The term "alcoholic liquors," as used in this ordinance, shall include all spirituous, vinous and malt liquors, and any other liquors or mixtures of liquors, which contains one-half of one per cent by volume, or more of alcohol, and which is not so mixed with other drugs as to prevent its use as a beverage.

the defendant, either alone or in association with others, shall be sufficient evidence of the payment of such tax.

Sec. 9. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment; but any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance by conviction of an offense committed after a previous conviction under this ordinance, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars, nor less than one hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months, nor less than one month.

Sec. 10. All ordinances or parts of ordinances of the city of Anaheim in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 11. The city clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and cause the same to be published in the Anaheim Weekly Gazette, and thereafter, to-wit: At twelve o'clock midnight, September 30, 1918, the same shall be in force and effect.

DISEASE CONTROL AND ITS EFFECTS ON CAL. DEATH STATISTICS

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—Organized efforts for the control of communicable diseases in California have resulted in a 50 per cent drop in deaths from the epidemic diseases in the last ten years, according to figures compiled by George D. Leslie, statistician of the State Board of Health.

On the contrary, deaths from diseases of middle age cancer, Bright's disease and diseases of the circulatory system have increased to a startling extent, thus proving the need for intensive work for the prevention and control of middle age diseases.

Deaths from diseases of the circulatory system in 1908 averaged 145 per 1000 deaths and in 1917 averaged 177.8; deaths from Bright's disease averaged 57.8 in 1917 while deaths from cancer averaged 55.5 in 1908 and 73.3 in 1917.

For the ten-year period the diseases of the circulatory system averaged 169.7 per 1000 deaths; deaths from tuberculosis averaged 142.3 per 1000 and deaths from violence, including suicide, averaged 103.7. Deaths from all communicable diseases excepting tuberculosis, averaged 46 per 1000 deaths for the ten years.

EAT BLACKBIRDS AND SAVE MEAT, IS ADVICE

SACRAMENTO, June 27.—The famous personage who "sang a song of sixpence" and then baked four and twenty blackbirds into a pie and thought it was great stuff, wasn't such an old nutty as many thought him to be. In fact, he was an epicure, according to George Neale of the State Fish and Game Commission.

"Eat blackbirds and save meat," Neale advised today. "As a table bird they are excelled by few others. They are not costly to shoot as they travel and feed in large bands and many birds can be killed with a single load of No. 9 shot. The young birds are now able to fly and are tender and delicious to eat. In many of the southern states it is necessary to protect the table qualities of this bird."

In game districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3, which comprise most of California except the most southern counties, blackbirds may be killed at any time and in any numbers. No license is required to hunt them.
